

GALLAUDET NOT TO CONCEDE BIG GAME

Owing to a misunderstanding between the managers of the Galiaudet College football team St. John's Academy, of Annapolis, was not notified of the cancellation of the game between the two teams scheduled for next Saturday. The game is therefore still hanging fire, but there is small prospect that the Gallaudet faculty will agree to a game before the players have had at least two weeks to condition themselves.

Coach Ellis sent the Gallaudet squad through a long formation drill yesterday afternoon and with the help of several experienced players had a practically green team moving with something resembling machinelike resultative. thing resembling machine-like regularity before the evening was over.

Several of the old men have been wmable to start practice owing to scholastic difficulties, but will be out Monday and the team will take on a more familiar appearance to followers of the Gallaudet teams. Houze, one of the new men, has an excellent chance to play one of the back-field positions regularly, and Cloud, who is assisting Coach Ellis with some of the green players, is sure to be one member of the varsity team when it is chosen.

New York, Oct. 1.—James C. Rice, coach of the Columbia University crew, returned yesterday from a vacation at Saratoga Springs and in Canada and announced that the fall rowing season would set under way in a few days, with the first practice probably late next

Rice was more concerned yesterday in the health of his 12-year-old son, James C. Rice, Jr., for several years mascot of the Columbia navy. The youngster was bitten on the face by a dog owned by Joe Wright, coach of the University of Pennsylvania crews, at Toronto several days ago and is in a serious eral days ago, and is in a serious condi-tion as the result of a succession of Coach Rice gave assurance that Columbia would have a dual crew race this fall, as last year, and that Yale probably would be its opponent again. It is understood that the Eli athletic authorities are favorable to inaugurat-ing this autumn rowing event annually, and it practically only remains to decide on the time and the course.

RACES WILL OPEN AT LAUREL PARK TODAY

eochares Will Be Public Choice in Big Handicap Event-High Noon to Cause Trouble.

This afternoon at Laurel Park the October meeting of the Maryland State Fair Association will begin, and for twenty-five succeeding days the flags will fig at the course. All day yesterday there were big lines of wagons unloading stable equipment at the long rows of stables and thoroughbreds were being led to their stalls. More than 500 horses reached the track from Havre de Grace and Canada, and there are today quartered at the house probably 1,100 of the finest thoroughbreds in this country.

Among the arrivals yesterday were the

Among the arrivals yesterday were the stables of Samuel Louis. W. J. Spiers, D. Douglass, James Fitzsimmons, C. W. Gasser, Walter House, the Marrone Stable, E. H. Garrison, Jules Garson, P. Stable, E. H. Garrison, Jules Garson, P. S. P. Randolph, James Butler, Emil Herz, and G. R. Tompkins, Others will reach the track this morning, and from now on the fields will be large every day.

The track could not be better. Horses working over it yesterday stirred up a dust and they seemed to revel in the going. Trainers say it is the safest and fortest track in the country and it would fortest track in the country and it would fastest track in the country, and it would not be surprising if some new records were hung out this afternoon. A force of men were at work all day yesterday but it is probable there will be some scratching. Leochares will doubtless be the public choice, for he has been working well ever since he reached Maryland, and the top weight of 127 pounds ought not to be burdensome to him. High Noon, from the stable of James Butler, is more than likely to be the one that will provide trouble for Leochares if anything does. This big chestnut, who always liked the Laurel track, is back to his good form as he showed in his last race at Havre de Grace, when he rang the first half mile of a six-furlong race in 10:46-45 seconds. Top o' the Morning will be the favorite of the Canadian contingent, and Hanson will doubtless have supporters. Of the Ross pair, which will represent Washinston, Crank will most likely be the one to start. Ultimatum, whom many regard as the best 2-year-old of this season, will not likely go to the post.

THE ACID TEST.

"Well, boss, whadaya know about the vational League race?" of men were at work all day yesterday putting the finishing touches to the improvements and cleaning up. Hundreds visited the track and expressed delight at the appearance of the plant. All the officials are on hand for the meeting. There will be no steeplechase today because owners were too slow in making their entries and only three were received. It is probable that there will be large fields in the chases in the future, however. The steeplechase course is in fine shape and the jumping races are sure to prove highly interesting.

The feature of today's card will be the Laurel Handicap for all ages at six furlongs. There are fifteen named to go, but it is probable there will be some scratching. Leegue Face:
